Primary Sources

Berkovits Gross, Elly. My True Story of the Holocaust. New York: Scholastic Inc., 2007. Print.

This autobiography of a girl who was in a concentration camp helped me to see the dangers Irena faced. I also used a picture of the concentration camp from this book in my project.

Sendlerowa, Irena. "Irena." Association of Children of the Holocaust in Poland. 3 March 2005.

Web. 17 Feb. 2009 <http://www.dzieciholocaustu.org.pl/szab58.php?s=en_sendlerowa.php>.

This is an interview with Irena Sendler. It has the true information that I needed. I have many sources from other points of view, but this site was the only one that had Irena's actual thoughts and words.

Zadjman, Renata. "Rescue from the Ghetto." Personal interview. 4 Feb. 2009.

I tracked down Renata Zadjman through the Montreal Holocaust museum. She was smuggled out of the Warsaw Ghetto by Irena Sendler when she was 14 years old. This was an invaluable source for my project because she told the whole story from another point of view.

Secondary Sources

The Courageous Heart of Irena Sendler. Dir. John Kent Harrison. Perf. Anna Paquin. Hallmark Hall of Fame, 2009. DVD.

This movie from the Hallmark Hall of Fame series was centered on Irena Sendler. It was based on the authorized autobiography of Sendler. I used this movie for basic information and a timeline of the story.

Gilbert, Martin. The Righteous: The Unsung Heroes of the Holocaust. Boston: Henry Holt & Company, 2003. Print.

This book has a chapter specifically on the rescuers of Jews in the Warsaw Ghetto. I used this resource for both background information and details about Irena's actions.
